Lake Sakakawea

North Dakota

$ 495 pp double

July 13th - 16th, 2018

Lake Sakakawea is part of the Missouri River system and is the third largest reservoir in the U.S. Lake Sakakawea was created in 1956 after the completion of the Garrison Dam and is managed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for flood control, hydroelectric power, navigation & irrigation. There is 1,530 miles of shoreline with depths to 180 feet (at base of the dam).

Lake Sakakawea is a fishing gem. Since the flooding not so many years ago the water levels have remained high but has stabilized and the return of the rainbow smelt has left this a thriving habitat! Northern Pike are growing larger, walleye are plentiful and small mouth bass population is growing. There is plenty of submerged structure for these fish to hangout around.
